Hackathons have already taken place in Cyprus, Greece, Lithuania, and Spain as part of the project!

Students and mentors have united to drive innovative educational solutions in sustainable personal finance.

In Spain, the winning team developed EcoRadar—a platform that merges technology and sustainability—and in Lithuania, the “Masters of Investment” team distinguished itself following several days of rigorous and collaborative effort.

Meanwhile, events in Cyprus and Greece reinforced the project’s commitment to fostering creativity and developing new educational tools.

Winners from all countries will meet in Greece in April 2025 to continue collaborating and sharing groundbreaking ideas.
